KOREA

March 2024

Drs Kamyar and Brigita Hedayat were invited back to Korea to spend time with our growing community of Korean Endobiogeny students. In addition to fun and fellowship, for the second year in the row, the Korean Academy of Holistic Orthodontics invited Dr. Kamyar M. Hedayat to give a lecture about Endobiogeny. The topic was TMJ disorders: anxiety and spasmophilia. This is the first time this topic was presented from an endobiogenic perspective. You can watch the video for free at www.learnendobiogeny.com.

June 2024

In June Drs. Moy and Helen Oh were in Paris. They were excited to meet the co-founder of the endobiogenic teachings, Dr. Jean Claude Lapraz. Jean Claude thanked Mona, Helen and the entire Korea group for their support in the diffusion of Endobiogeny teachings. He noted, "We share the same worldview and the need to join our common efforts to bring a more humane and respectful medicine to our patients, one that values nature and the richness of each individual."

Later in June we held a case study seminar using the new GEMMA Anxiety Panel level 2. The attendees were fascinated by the insights offered by the Anxiety Panel level 2.

On April 27 Drs Jean Claude Lapraz and Kamyar Hedayat met with the St. Hildegard Endobiogeny group for an all-day session. The first half of the day Kamyar lectured on the development of indexes modeling psycho-physiological tendencies and the special role of the pineal gland. The second half of the session was spent discussing a charter of ethics for the group that respects the philosophical approaches of antiquity and modernity as well as contemporary Catholic thought and the spirit of Endobiogeny. We broke bread and shared a communal meal mid-day. SBRG thanks Father Ide and the entire St. Hildegard group for a congenial session and look forward to our autumn meeting.
